

MARCELA BELLINI GALLERY

NEW YORK ONEIRIC

Bethesda Fountain & Soho

In New York, angels don't always live in the sky... Sometimes, they linger between carved stone and modern brick, like in this image: the angel of Bethesda Fountain, seen from behind, quietly watching. Below, cherubs whisper ancient stories, while behind them, like a memory out of place, rise the buildings of SoHo. This photo is a conversation between two worlds: the neoclassical serenity of Central Park and the creative energy of SoHo.

SHOP NOW

Instagram

Sitio Web